John M. James, M.D.

Dr. John James joined Colorado Allergy and Asthma Centers in 1997. He is board certified by the American Board of Allergy and Immunology, as well as the American Board of Pediatrics. Dr. James lives in Fort Collins, Colorado and is available to evaluate patients in Northern Colorado and surrounding communities. In addition to the diagnosis and management of allergic diseases and asthma, Dr. James has a special interest in food allergy, atopic dermatitis, and anaphylaxis.

Dr. James received his Doctor of Medicine degree from the University of Tennessee in Memphis and completed his pediatric residency at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City, UT. He fulfilled an Allergy and Immunology fellowship at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, MD. Before joining Colorado and Allergy and Asthma Centers, Dr. James was a medical school faculty member for four years at the University of Arkansas in Little Rock in the Division of Allergy and Immunology.

Currently, Dr. James serves on the Board of Directors of the American Board of Allergy and Immunology where he serves as the Chair of the Maintenance of Certification Committee. He is the medical director of the Parents of Asthmatic and Allergic Children support group for asthmatic and allergic children in Northern Colorado. In addition, he serves on the Poudre School District Food Allergy Task Force in Fort Collins. Dr. James is an active committee member of the American Academy of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology and he is on a national committee of the American Academy of Pediatrics that plans and organizes Allergy, Immunology and Pulmonary programs for their annual meeting.

Erin Kempe, D.O.

Dr. Erin Kempe joined Colorado Allergy and Asthma Centers in 2016. She is board certified by the American Board of Allergy and Immunology.

Dr. Kempe received her bachelor's degree in Biology from Temple University in Philadelphia, PA. She completed medical school at the Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine in Erie, PA. She then moved to Portland, ME to complete a residency in pediatrics at Maine Medical Center. She completed allergy and immunology fellowship training in Columbus, OH at The Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center and Nationwide Children's Hospital. She remained on faculty at Nationwide Children's Hospital for one year after fellowship.

Dr. Kempe has participated in a variety of clinical research projects, covering topics including inpatient allergy and immunology consultations, bathing practices in atopic dermatitis, and appropriate use of specific IgE testing in food allergy. She is a member of several national medical societies.

Dr. Kempe is passionate about maintaining strong relationships with her patients, and believes that that patient and the physician are a team when it comes to choosing the right treatment for each individual. She believes that the first step to healing is understanding your symptoms, and works hard to ensure her patients understand the "why" behind each part of their treatment.

She lives in Fort Collins with her husband. She enjoys running, hiking, backpacking, and also loves cooking with new and local ingredients.

YOUR FIRST VISIT

Before your first visit you will be provided with a comprehensive medical history form. This will either be mailed to you or may be accessed on our web site at www.ColoradoAllergy.com. You need to bring this completed to your initial visit.

Your first visit generally includes a thorough medical history, examination, and testing. Based on the evaluation the doctor will formulate a diagnosis and recommend treatment options. The treatment plan which you and your doctor have chosen will be outlined in detail. Education regarding your diagnosis and treatment plan is an important part of your initial visit.

A patient's symptoms can vary with age, season, environment, general health, diet, and even stress. Based on all of these factors, as well as any other relevant issues, we will work with you to design a treatment program which results in the most effective therapy for your medical problems. Our goal is to arrive at a treatment plan which allows you to take control of your asthma or allergy issues. At any time during your visit, please feel free to ask questions if there is something that you do not understand.
